Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Edinburgh Medical Journal, 1895 This he did, with the result that whilst there he was apparently in perfect health, but the moment he resumed work there was the old complaint of the great feeling of oppression on the top of the head, and a general aspect of depression, which showed itself in his hanging head and altered, downcast gait as he walked through the streets. I saw him as a patient again on April 14th, and prescribed some acid tonic with liq. strychnine, advised him to get assistance in his business, and gave him 30 grs. of bromide of potassium to be taken at night to induce sleep. I met him accidentally about the beginning of June, and again finally pled with him to go abroad, but only with the effect of increasing his obstinacy, for he flatly informed me he would not go. On Sunday morning, June 11th, about 8 A.M., two hurried messages arrived to go at once to the patients house; and as the second of these indicated what had happened, I...
