Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Oculo-Didactics or Eye Culture, Vol. 7 In 1707 Antoine Maitre-Jan gave a description of complaints which he thought Arose from the strain of the eye. In 1824 Dr. W. Kitchner wrote of People who required glasses, but neglected to use them. In 1832 Wilier enumerated several symptoms arising from strained eyes. In 1837 Sichel mentioned a group of symptoms, arising from excessive use of the eye. In 1850 Piorry said that Oscillation nerverness had its seat in the eye. In 1867 the author asserted that he could see no reason why the eye could not be improved by proper culture, as well as any other organ. Since then the author has been much interested in the technics of visual images with the result that, he has become a confirmed expounder of scientific eye-culture. In view of what Fauchet said: No author is so poor that he cannot be of some service, we hope that this effort may not be fruitless. The book to read is not the one which thinks for you, but the one which makes you think. This contribution is not designed for lazy readers, or those who require their thinking to be done for them. The aim is to invite thoughtful attention to universal principles, and thus prompt professionals to carefully distinguish pedantries and artificialities from the realistics, so as to heed the best interests of patrons without being hampered by empiric rule dictations.
